About City Atlas: New Haven

City Atlas is a new project about the future of New Haven. We feature and promote the sustainability goals of New Haven and Yale, and help connect members of the Yale community to the city's new initiatives and civic organizations. We aim to strengthen the ties between social justice, sustainability, and community building.

What we’re looking for:
You, Your ideas, and Your Creativity!

We are looking for content that is local and relevant to New Haven. Therefore, we want to invite submissions from all areas and perspectives across the city of New Haven who have different stories to tell or “insider knowledge.” What’s your story? What do you love about New Haven? What’s your vision for the future of New Haven?

Here’s the challenge:

1. Pick an issue that you care about and that you think is relevant to New Haven.
2. Come up with a brief pitch (a few paragraphs at most) that details
   a. What the issue is
   b. The population it affects
   c. Why it's important
   d. What future solutions might be out there
   e. What medium you might use to present all of this information.

http://newhaven.thecityatlas.org

Email liana.epstein@thecityatlas.org with “City Atlas: New Haven Content Submission” in the subject line.